

LeanFlow Single-Business License

1. You may edit and use the files internally within one business entity.
2. You may create internal records and controlled documents from the templates.
3. You may not resell, sublicense, publish, distribute, or give the source templates to another organization.
4. No certification, legal, regulatory, safety, or performance outcome is guaranteed. The buyer is responsible for review, approval, implementation, and compliance.
5. Digital products are provided as editable working tools. Support covers file access and reasonable usage questions; it does not include consulting or system certification.